Dear Bob:

Reference: Your letter of 14 May 1956.

Your proposal of paying your engineers going overseas a twenty percent salary differential appears reasonable to us and meets with our approval. It is understood that this arrangement applies to TEC personnel. On PCD personnel it will be desirable in the near future to effect a contractual arrangement whereby permanent base personnel, such as [REDACTED] for Base A, and others for B & C, are not co-engaged contractually with [REDACTED]. Will you please advise what overhead and G & A in accordance with your prior experience in providing Tech Rep Types would be applicable. The arrangement would be on a fixed year basis for this "services" type contract.

You stated that effective 30 April you have changed your method of paying the salary differential for personnel assigned to the [REDACTED] from the ten percent increase to a per diem basis. As you know, the prevailing per diem paid at [REDACTED] is $9.00 for each day actually at [REDACTED]. If your arrangement contemplates a similar rate, it meets with our approval.

When Bert recently visited us, he picked up a copy of "Assumptions and Understanding Pertaining to Entitlements of Contractors, Etc.". This will answer most of the questions that normally come to mind. You will note that if a person needs additional money while overseas, he can get a personal check cashed with the understanding that the Contractor involved will indemnify the Government against bad checks given by its personnel. A Contractor's representative would submit a travel voucher and be reimbursed by us if he were asked to go to a location overseas where room and board is not provided. (See Paragraph No. 4, Pages 3 & 4 of "Assumptions . . . Etc.")

Sincerely,
